ADVERTISED SERMONS

Dr. John Hall, in his Yale Lectures on Preaching, makes some pithy and pertinent remarks upon the custom of advertising the subject of sermons which are to be delivered. It is perhaps well in a large city to advertise the various places of worship, the preacher and the time of service, for the information of multitudes of strangers in town, but there is no necessity to do more than this. Dr. Hall says:

"'Announced preaching' I do not regard with great favor. A man has, or his friends feel that he has, something out of the way to say, and he looks up a smart running title, and gives it out, or the newspaper does it for him. I have never thought this a good plan, and would advise my brethren not to adopt it. It is regarded as a confession of general weakness. Your common things, it could hardly be supposed, would attract; but here is a sermon on 'the iron that did swim' or the 'little foxes,' or 'Sampson's foxes,' or 'Jehudi's penknife,' and it is hoped the people will hear you thereon. And when there is no announcement, why, of course, the fair inference is, there is nothing peculiar, nothing worth hearing, nothing but the gospel!'

"Among the incidental evils of this 'announcing' system, is the effect it has on the Christian community. There are enough of gypsies already, unattached hearers who 'go around' and hear the most 'interesting preachers.' You get them the first time you are announced, perhaps the second. But, meantime, your neighbor, or his deacons, will have taken notice of the fact, and a rival announcement is in the field. You get out Goliath; he proclaims Samson. You intimate the Royal Dancing Girl; and he forthwith produces the Witch of Endor; and the poor uninstructed owners of itching ears and vacant minds have a good time, and persuade themselves they are taking religion when discussing the relative merits of the performances. Let us leave all this to the lyceums, the lecturing bureau, and the showmen. Let us be willing to go down as low as is needed to lift up sinners; but it is we who are to go down. This is to drag down ... [illegible] hundred [pounds] a year to be able to show that he considers three thousand a year as mere dirt beneath his feet, when compared with the public interest and the public esteem."

Colonel Barre also spoke of it in a public view with the greatest warmth, says Bishop Tomline. "Sir, it is the act of a man who feels that he stands upon a high eminence in the eyes of that country which he is destined to govern." When Colonel Barre died, Mr. Addington was Prime Minister, and he offered the place to Pitt who ... [illegible]

PARALYSIS.

VEGETINE
I have seen the Remedy tried, and know it is good.

NEWPORT, KY., April 27 1877.

H. R. STEVENS, Boston Mass:—

Sir—Having sold and recommended your medicine for the last three years, perhaps, you would ask why I should recommend them. I will answer, by saying, that I saw such beneficial results in a young friend who has been afflicted with a disease for two years, which was brought on by his own imprudence, and he had taken but one bottle when it showed its power to successfully fight the evil, so that I have always recommended it to young friends with bad blood. If you wish to use this as reference, why, I say you can do so, as I have seen the remedy tried and know it is good.

I remain yours very respectfully,
G. M. MILLER,
P O box 478 Newport, Ky

VEGETINE.—For cleansing all impurities of the blood from the system, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease.

VEGETINE
Will Cure
DROPSY AND DYSPEPSIA.

WALNUT HILLS, April 16, 1877.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

I have much pleasure in informing you that, after seeing the perfect cure of a three-year-old case of Dropsy by a friend of mine, I tried to get cured of an old trouble of mine, Dyspepsia. The use of four bottles of Vegetine according to your directions, was a great success, and I am free of my old enemy. The use of your Vegetine has effected a perfect cure.

Respectfully yours,
L. W. DAVIDSON,
Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Ohio.

VEGETINE.—It extends its influence into every part of the human organism, commencing with its foundation, correcting diseased action, and restoring vital powers, creating a healthy formation and purification of the blood, driving out disease, and leaving Nature to perform its allotted task.

VEGETINE
Apothecaries recommend it.

CINCINNATI, April 19, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir—I have sold during the past two years, large quantities of your "Vegetine," which has given entire satisfaction in all cases, not hearing of a single complaint against it.

Very truly yours,
E. B. ASHFIELD,
Druggist and Apothecary,
